DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

This was the home of John Belt, in the 1800's. The old house was rented out to tenants, and burned about 20 years ago. The present ruins show a stone, fireplace-base chimney on the north end that may have been connected with an earlier building. The house was framed with hewn timbers, and was two stories high, with a center gable on the east (front) facade. There was diagonal sub-siding, covered with clapboards.

The present outbuildings include two old barns, a converted tenant house, and several frame sheds. Both barns have pole framing, and the smaller, older barn has a corn crib and wagon shed built into it. The roof is of wooden shingles, and the siding is board-and-batten. The gabled front faces south. The tenant house is a two-story, frame building, ca. early 1900's, that appears to have been converted from a shed.

The old family graveyard is located in the center of the field, to the NE of the buildings. The base of a marker remains, but the bodies were reinterred at Rockville Cemetery. Two of the stones are in the yard of Mrs. Ruth (Belt) Pope, nearby. They read:

"In memory of our father
John Belt
Passed to rest Nov. (?)
Aged (?) 2 mos.
I have fought a good fight
I have finished my course
I have kept the faith"

"Nancy wife of
John Belt
Born Sept. 14, 1810
Died March 14, 1888"

Mr. Russell Pope's mother, Ruth (Belt) Pope (in her '90's) was born here.
